

VICTOR'S LAVENDER ANNOUNCES NATIONAL DISTRIBUTION CENTER in Central Ohio

Victor Gonzales, owner of Victor's Lavender in Sequim, Washington State, is proud to announce the opening of Victor's Lavender Plant Distribution Center in central Ohio. This will allow Victor's Lavender to provide very healthy plants and excellent customer service -- with both pick-up and easy shipping, for our East Coast and Midwest customers.

Why Central Ohio?

- Significantly reduced shipping time and plant stress
- Lower freight costs compared to cross-country transport
- Convenient pickup and regional shipping options
- Direct access to Victor for plant selection and consulting

Victor's Lavender wishes you a very happy new year and best wishes for 2026! Thank you for your business and support over the past 25 years.

Victor offers what few growers have to offer – a wide range of lavender plants in several sizes with more than twenty varieties available and more upon request. This allows the customer to grow and present a beautiful farm for the public, with many hard-to-find varieties (see order form).

The distribution center provides fresh and healthy plants that avoid the extensive shipping cost and time in transit when plants are shipped across the country. Plants can be picked up at the distribution farm or shipped, providing less shipping time and expense and reducing plant loss due to shipping delays and distance.

Victor will be available at the distribution center on a regular basis for meeting with customers to answer questions and advise on selecting the right plants for their design and location. Consultant design services are also available.
